CALL LOCAL OPTION ELECTION;
"WETS" FORM NO OPPOSITIONCounty Commissioners Select Last Day of February as Time to Vote on Question.

377 SIGNATURES ON PETITION

"Drys" Make Extra Effort and Get More Than 20 Per Cent of Township Vote.

"WETS" SATISFIED WITH DATE

Attorneys Appear After Time is Set —Rumored War Clouds Did Not Arise.

With eleven more names than necessary, the petition for a local option election under the new Proctor law was presented to the county commissioners this morning at their regular February meeting and they called an election for the last day of this month, February twenty-eight, the day on which the county becomes "automatically" "wet," according to the provisions of the new law. There was no opposition to the calling of the election. Attorneys for both the "wets" and the "drys" agreed that the day was very satisfactory.

The petition, containing 377 names was filed in the auditor's office late Saturday evening. The Proctor law provides that twenty per cent of the voters in the unit in which the election is to be held, the vote of the secretary of State at the last general election taken as a basis, shall sign the petition to call an election. The "drys" here were unable to determine the number of voters in Rushville at the last general election, so they found twenty per cent of the voters in Rushville township at the last general election, and set about to get that number in the petition. The twenty percent amounted to 366, but the "drys" were able to get 377 before it was time to file the petition Saturday night.

It was rumored on the streets late Saturday afternoon that the "drys" had failed in the attempt to get the required number and would file the petition anyway even if the number was short. But reassuring reports were sent out from the "dry" headquarters to the effect that they would not fail. They made a final effort Saturday night.

WAS BURIED IN MILROY

Body of Infant Daughter of Connersville Minister, Transferred Here.

The body of Marjorie Frances Smith, the infant daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Smith of Connersville was shipped here this afternoon over the I. & C. traction line and transferred by a local undertaker to the Big Four, where the body was taken on to Milroy for burial. The child had been ill for several days with Bright's disease. She was first stricken with indigestion, which later developed into uremic poisoning and complicated by Bright's disease, which caused her death. The funeral services were held in Connersville this morning.

STATED CONVOCATION.

There will be a stated convocation of Rush Chapter No. 24 R. A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Business of importance. Buffet luncheon will follow. Companions invited.

day afternoon and easily found the number necessary to comply with the provisions of the law.

It had been reported that the "wets" intended to make a fight on the calling of the election, but the rumored war cloud did not arise. The action on the petition was the first order of business this morning, when the commissioners convened. The "drys" and their attorneys were on hands ready for work bright and early, but the "wets" did not put in their appearance.

Soon after the commissioners had set the date and the "drys" had said that it was satisfactory with them, attorneys for the "wets" appeared

FIND AGED MAN ON FLOOR

Friends Discover O. P. Wellman Suffering With Acute Indigestion.

Suffering from a very severe attack of acute indigestion, O. P. Wellman, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Finney at 122 West Third street, got out of bed onto the floor yesterday morning and was unable to arise. He labored for several minutes and almost lost consciousness before he was able to get to the door and unlock it so that he might call for assistance. Dr. D. H. Dean was called and today Mr. Wellman is much improved. He is able to sit up in bed and will probably be out in a few days.

ARRANGED PLANS
OVER THE PHONE

Miss Emma Younger and Ernest Dishingier Elected to Cincinnati and Were Married.

SURPRISED THEIR FRIENDS

While Miss Emma Younger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Younger, of 826 North Sexton street, arranged the details of her elopement with Ernest Dishingier by telephone last Friday evening, her aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Perry of 830 West Tenth street, with whom she has been living, sat by and did not dream that such plans were being made.

The young couple left here Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock over the C. H. & D. for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they were married, returning at 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Mrs. Dishingier told all of her friends that she intended to elope and be married Friday and when that day passed, they all believed that she was only joking.

THE REV. SMALL WILL PREACH.

The Rev. Mattley Small has been engaged to preach at the Ben Davis Creek church the first and third Sundays in each month during this year. The Rev. Small will deliver his first sermon there tomorrow.

SEARCH FOR BOY.

Sheriff Bebout has been notified to be on the lookout for George Karcher of Cincinnati, Ohio, who mysteriously disappeared from his home in the Queen City, January 24. He is fifteen years of age and is said to be accompanied by a boy eighteen years.

The mining industries of Chile employ sixty thousand persons, and the railways sixty-five thousand.

PERFORMED LAST
SAD RITES TODAYFuneral Services of Robert Retherford Who Died Saturday Night
Were Held This Afternoon.

WAS MEMBER OF TWO LODGES

Survived by Widow and Four Children, Also Parents and Three Brothers and Two Sisters.

The funeral services of Robert Retherford, who died Saturday night at ten o'clock at the Sexton sanatorium were held this afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the residence, 415 West Fifth street, conducted by the Rev. V. W. Tevis.

Mr. Retherford had been in poor health for some time and was removed to the sanatorium two weeks ago, where he was operated on. The cause of his death is given as tumor of the large intestines. He was 49 years old.

Deceased was prominent in lodge circles, being a member of the Eagles and Knights of Pythias. The services were in charge of the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Retherford was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Retherford, 925 North Main street, and was born and reared on the Retherford farm, northeast of the city. He remained on the farm for some time after his marriage, but later removed to this city, where he had been employed in a factory.

His death came as a surprise to many of his friends, who did not know that he had even been taken to the sanatorium. Mr. Retherford was operated on last summer for a rather serious disease and it was thought he had completely recovered his health.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Retherford, he is survived by a widow and four children, Mrs. Charles Green, Misses Hettie, Achsah and Mildred and also three brothers, Ferdinand, Jesse and Ed and two sisters, Nellie Retherford and Mrs. Laura Keisling.

APPOINT DITCH
COMMISSIONER

County Commissioners in Regular Session Today Transact Business of Importance.

NAME TWO ROAD VIEWERS

The calling of a local option election under the new Proctor law was not the only thing of importance that the county commissioners did today as they were in continuous session all day long. Late this afternoon they were considering some bridge contracts, but at 3:30 o'clock had made no awards.

John A. Cowan of this city was re-appointed ditch commissioner of the county. The office of ditch commissioner is a stationary one and is filled every two years.

W. A. Posey, living a few miles west of the city and T. A. Jones, living southwest of the city, were appointed viewers of the township line road between Ripley and Center. The commissioners adjourned this evening but will probably be in session again tomorrow.

THE WEATHER

Snow followed by clearing late tonight. Colder Tuesday. Probably fair. Colder in extreme south portion.

NOBLE IS TAKEN UP BEFORE COURT

Alleged Slayer of Albert Sprague Appears Before Judge Blair to Arrange For Trial.

PROBABLY BE THE THIRD WEEK

Elzra Hall Pleads Guilty to Assault And Battery Charge And is Fined.

For the first time, Ben Noble, of Decatur county, the alleged slayer of Albert Sprague, for the murder of whom he is to stand trial, was brought up in the court room before Judge Alonzo Blair this afternoon at three o'clock. Noble was taken before the judge so that some understanding could be had as to the alleged murderer's defense and as to the date of the trial.

Noble told the court that Conaway and Scofield, attorneys of Indianapolis, had come to the Marion county jail and volunteered their assistance in defending him. He said that they had made no statements concerning fees and that he had turned his case over to them completely. The judge told him that he would have the clerk write the attorneys and see when it would be convenient for them to appear.

Judge Blair told Noble that he desired to set his trial for the third week of court and it is to be supposed that it will be called about February 20. After Noble retired, the court expressed the desire that Noble be ably and well defended, so that he would have a "square deal" and that the jury's verdict would be rendered after both sides of the case had been clearly set forth.

Noble's case was sent here from Decatur county on a change of venue. Shortly after the terrible murder and the subsequent arrest of the farm hand, the Decatur county sheriff took him prisoner to the Marion county jail for safe keeping, fearing that a mob might be formed and do Noble injury since the feeling against him ran high for a time. When Noble was sent here for trial, Sheriff Bebout took Noble to Marion county immediately and he has been there until last night when he was returned to the local jail. Noble will be imprisoned here until after his trial comes up.

Elzra Hall of near Manilla was fined five dollars and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery this afternoon. An affidavit was returned by a grand jury several years ago, but Hall was never caught until about a month ago, when Sheriff Bebout accidentally found him on the streets here. Hall had a fight with a Manilla citizen one Christmas day several years ago, which caused the charge to be preferred. Since his arrest Hall has been in jail, in default of a bond, for thirty-two days.

The regular February term of court began this morning. Nothing of importance on the civil docket was done. The docket was called and the issues made up.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

The Rev. Mr. Burns has resigned as pastor of the Plum Creek church and will preach at Fairland. He had been connected with the church there for a number of years.

SUIT ON NOTE.

Joel B. Pusey and William A. Gohner, partners doing business under the firm name of Pusey & Gohner, have filed suit in the circuit court on a note against Adam Richey and August Gahimer, demanding $300.

LOSES HIS ARM
IN ACCIDENT

Riley George of Near New Salem is Victim of Serious Injury in Omaha, Neb.

BROTHER GOES TO BEDSIDE

Is in the Employ of the Union Pacific Railroad as a Mechanical Engineer.

Word was received in this city last night from Omaha, Neb., that Riley George of near New Salem had met with a serious accident which required the amputation of one of his arms, which arm it was, is not known. His brother, County Superintendent C. M. George, left at once for his bedside.

The particulars of the accident are not known. It was rumored that he had been in a railroad wreck, but this is not the case as Mr. George has been employed with the Union Pacific railroad since his graduation from Purdue University last spring and it is thought he met with the accident while at work.

A telegram received today by Mr. George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William George of near New Salem, stated that he had been removed to a hospital in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and was resting as well as could be expected.

Mr. George is well known in this city, having graduated from the local high school in 1906. The following fall he entered Purdue University and was graduated last year. He accepted a position as mechanical engineer with the Union Pacific railroad and has been in Omaha since his graduation.

ATTENDED LODGE INITIATION

Several Local Knights of Columbus Went to Batesville.

A number of local Knights of Columbus went to Batesville yesterday to attend an initiation in the lodge there. Some of them went on the train while others chose the auto route. Those who selected the latter method regret very much that they ever made such a selection, as the machine broke down south of Greensburg and could not be repaired. They did not get back to Rushville until late this afternoon.

DEMANDS FIVE THOUSAND

Jesse Murphy Files Contribution Suit Against John Ryburn.

Jesse Murphy has filed a contribution suit in the circuit court against John E. Ryburn, demanding $5,000. Murphy and Ryburn were formerly partners in business in Glenwood and Murphy claims this amount is due him for money advanced to carry on the business. Megee and Kiplinger are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

GOES INTO FAST COMPANY.

Asbury Richey of Milroy, a ball player, who played last fall with Greensburg, will leave soon for Syracuse, N. Y., where he will be given a try-out on the team. Syracuse is in the Eastern League and is faster than the American Association.

FAIL A SECOND TIME TO ELOPE

Susan Pence, 13, and Perry Foreman, of Williamstown, County-Line Town.

RACE AGAINST TIME, FEATURE

Sheriff and Girl's Guardian Interfere in Time to Frustrate Plans of Young Couple.

For the second time in the same week, thirteen-year-old Susan Pence of Williamstown made an unsuccessful attempt to elope and marry Perry Foreman, but on this last occasion they were frustrated in having their plans materialize from the fact that the sheriff and a big automobile played importantly in the game of cupid and hearts, says the Greensburg News.

Sheriff Patterson received a call Saturday morning between seven and eight o'clock that the couple, who were attended by the girl's foster father, Irvin Pence, and James Millikin, were in Horace and had purchased tickets to go to North Vernon. The train left there about 9:15 and the sheriff lost no time in making preparations. Procuring the big touring car of Seobey Smith, accompanied by the girl's guardian, Rollin Turner, a mad race was soon in progress, with Horace as the destination. Suffice it to say the big machine, its occupants well spattered with mud, drew up in front of the station about five minutes before the train pulled in.

No arrests were made, but the sheriff and the guardian obtained a promise from Miss Pence that she would not attempt to elope any more, and that she would wait until she has reached the legal age to marry before having anything more to do with Foreman.

Mr. Pence and Mr. Millikin said the party was merely on their way to North Vernon on a pleasure trip, but it is very likely that they were really on a hasty trip to the Kentucky State, where the older people would assist in obtaining the desired legal permit entitling the two children to marry.

Miss Pence is heir to a small estate of about fifteen to eighteen hundred dollars that was left her by the late Harvey Townsend. This, however, she can not touch until she becomes of age, and the estate is being taken care of by Rollin Turner, appointed by the court as her guardian. The first attempt was made by the young people last Monday night, when they eluded officers in this city and took a train for Cincinnati.

Miss Pence stated Saturday that she and her foster father left their home near Sandusky about 2 o'clock Saturday morning in a rig and started for Horace. Foreman, accompanied by Millikin followed them in a separate rig and they joined each other at Horace.

Miss Pence, who is only a little past thirteen years of age, is very small for one of her years, and it is very doubtful if any marriage license clerk in the country would risk prosecution by issuing her a license.

EASTERN STAR MEETING.

Martha Poe Chapter No. 143 O. E. S. will hold their regular meeting tomorrow night. A good attendance is desired.

—Roscoe McLain of Franklin is back here for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Duke, living in North Morgan street. He is improving from the injury which he received in a wreck at St. Louis several weeks ago.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS PROVE WORTH

Report for January Was Very Encouraging.

Washington, Feb. 6.—If the postal savings bank system of the United States keeps up the pace it set in January it will outstrip that of Great Britain in its most successful year, 1908. According to an announcement made by Postmaster General Hitchcock, the reports for January show that the deposits for the month will amount to about $60,000. There are eight offices in operation, so that the average per office is about $1,200. If this average is maintained the year's aggregate will be about three-quarters of a million dollars. This, the officials think, shows what might be expected if additional offices are established.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is so pleased with the January returns that he will ask congress for $1,000,000 additional with which to extend the system.

Wanted in Kentucky.

New York, Feb. 6.—A man who said he was King McNamara, formerly of Lexington, Ky., and that he was haunted by memories of a crime, surrendered to the police here Sunday night. He said he killed a man in Lexington twelve years ago, and that a reward of $10,000 had been offered for his arrest. A telegram was sent to Lexington. A reply was received from Chief Regan reading: "King McNamara wanted here for slaying Jacob S. Keller in February, 1899. Hold him. Will send man."

THE FARMERS' FRIEND.

One who uses giant powder
In clearing the farmers' ground,
Who takes his life within his hand
And travels the country 'round,
Now there is Adolphus Taylor, Who has had many jarms and bumps,
And he is master of his profession
That is of blowing out the stumps.

He uses Dupont High Explosives
Which he thinks has no equal,
And he knows just how to use it
So in that there is the sequel.
Mr. Taylor is a Rush county boy
And has followed this line for years;
Now if you need your stumps blown out
You needn't have any fears.

Should you employ Mr. Taylor
You will find your work done right.
With a charge of Dupont High Grade
It will blow the stump clear out of sight.
Adolphus is now in Hendricks county
Near Plainfield, I understand,
With a bunch of Dupont High Grade
A clearing up some land.

Explosives are very dangerous
But he handles it with skill
And can blow your stumps for you
From off the Highest Hill.
He is liberal in his charges;
Now when you have some work,
Don't fail to see Al Taylor;
He was never known to shirk.

Now in closing up our little verse
I wish right here to say
Just telephone to Taylor
And he will come most any day.
He thanks you for your patronage
And kindness in the past,
And will continue blowing stumps
As long as he will last.

FAULTY CONNECTION

Caused Serious Explosion of Gas in a Tennessee Girls' School.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Explosion of gas at Boscobel college, a school for young ladies, wrecked part of the building, threw the students into a panic and caused many to flee in their nightgowns.

One young lady was blown twenty feet down the corridor. She and another were burned, but will recover. Every glass in the building was blown to bits.

The electricity used in the building was cut off during an electrical storm. The gas, which had not been used for some time, was turned on, and the explosion resulted from a faulty connection.

EVIDENCES LACKING

Grand Jury Found No Bill Against Man Accused of Burning Girl.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 6.—After a searching investigation the Monroe county grand jury returned an ignominy in the case of the state against Litana Skelton of Stinesville, charged with setting fire to and burning to death his fiancée, Miss Lillian Liford of Ellettsville. Skelton was released from jail after being a prisoner in the county jail two weeks. In a written report signed by Foreman Howe, it was stated that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant the return of a true bill against the defendant.

Revolt in Dutch East Indies.

Batavia, Java, Dutch East Indies, Feb. 6.—There has been a serious outbreak among the Chinese on the island of Billiton. The capitol, Tanjung Pandan, was looted and burned, and the chief administrator and other officials murdered.

Two Boys and a Gun.

Glasgow, Ky., Feb. 6.—Elmer Edwards, aged thirteen years, shot and killed his brother Andrew at their home near Sulphur Wells. Elmer claims he was examining the gun, when it was accidentally discharged.

WANTS TROOPS

Labor Commissioner Slough Thinks
Them Necessary at Gary.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 6.—Mayor Thomas I. Knotts of Gary issued a statement that the reports of the strike situation there had been exaggerated and that unless the trouble takes a more serious turn there will be no necessity to call upon the sheriff or state troops for protection. Harry Slough, Indiana state labor commissioner, who has investigated conditions in Gary, has recommended that the governor send troops there. Two hundred non-union carpenters and bricklayers arrived in Gary to take the places of the men who were called off by the building trades council.

Negro Convicted of Murder.

Indianapolis, Feb. 6.—Arthur McPherson, colored, who shot and killed Michael Hurt Christmas morning, was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in criminal court, and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment.

J. M. TERRELL

Georgia Senator Seriously Ill at the National Capital.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The condition of Senator Terrell of Georgia is slightly improved. He is a patient at the George Washington university hospital, where he was taken following a partial paralysis. He is in a very serious condition, and it is not thought that he will be able to return to his seat in the senate in the present session of congress.

A CHICAGO HOLD-UP IN WILD-WEST STYLE

Robbers Compel Cashier to Give Up Thousands.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Four armed men held up and robbed Rector's restaurant at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The restaurant is in the heart of the business section. The robbers got between $3,500 and $4,000, and had no trouble in making their escape.

Cashier J. P. Adams, a waiter and a scrub woman were the only persons in the restaurant. Four men entered and went directly to the cashier's desk. There they drew revolvers and "hands up" was ordered.

The waiter and the woman were forced to stand with their faces to a wall with their hands above their heads, while Adams was ordered to open the safe and hand out its contents.

He opened the money box of the safe and handed over to the desperadoes the receipts of Saturday afternoon and evening, estimated at between $3,500 and $4,000. Adams was then ordered to join his companions standing face to the wall, and the four men backed out of the place and easily made their escape. The men were not masked and made no effort to conceal their identity.

Do you know that group can be prevented? Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It is also a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Sold by All Dealers.

Shopping at Home

THE most clever and progressive women have learned the immense advantage of carefully reading the advertisements.

Those who are more dull of apprehension prefer to wander around in different stores hunting for the special bargains and unusually attractive articles.

The up-to-date woman of today sits down and takes her paper and reads the advertisements carefully before she goes "shopping."

She has learned by experience that the merchant who is up-to-date in his methods and has the most desirable offerings, is the one who makes his influence felt through his advertising.

If he did not do this he would not be an up-to-date merchant.

The back number merchant does not advertise.

Shopping at home, looking through the ads. before you start out, saves time and annoyance and is sure to result in both economy and satisfaction.

It pays to read the advertisements.

Here are the Five Great Coffee Blends —the Right Blend to Suit Each Taste

Choose Yours!

HOW could these different people with widely different tastes like the same blend of coffee? Impossible!

No one blend of coffee can satisfy more than one person in five—a fact established by a careful analysis of the demands of the coffee lovers in America.

Having the largest coffee business in the country, we long ago shouldered the responsibility of classifying the varying tastes for coffee. After a generation of study, research and experiment our experts are ready for you—you and the four others—each with a personal palate for coffee.

Here are the Five Blends—under the one family name of Golden Sun Coffee, each with a distinctive character in flavor and aroma. Pick yours.

Your best cup of coffee is in one of these packages. Perhaps our low priced Blend will make your ideal cup of coffee. Price, strength, or method of making is not first in importance. The Blend is the thing; a certain proportion of this, that and the other coffee berry for strength, flavor and aroma.

The point is that we start to make your cup of coffee nearer to nature than any other coffee house ever has. Our control of plantation outputs guarantees uniformity.

The expertness of our blenders and roasters, with us for over twenty years, guarantees flavor to your taste and our air-tight, hygienic package guarantees cleanliness, purity and full strength. We pack all Golden Sun Coffee at the critical moment between too little and too much roasting—it is packed warm and sealed before a bit of the rich, luscious natural oil escapes.

Beware of the stale, dusty coffee kept in open bins and the job-lot, hit-and-miss stuff sold by irresponsible peddlers. These no more compare to Golden Sun Coffee than the pulp of an orange compares to the juice.

Your grocer, if he is experienced and anxious to give you the best service will tell you how true these coffee facts are. He will show you the five different packages and the Golden Sun Table of Tastes so you can select your particular blend and have at last your own kind of coffee dependable every week. Tear out your description and package as a reminder for your coffee order.

Who would want to see a saloon in Glenwood? No one, only those who have lost their self respect or it is they might reap some kind of reward for cussedness done if one should be permitted to come into Glenwood.

The arguments for the return of the saloon are many and foolish. First there is as much liquor drunk as there used to be. In answer to this I would answer, it is not a fact. It is no believed that any bod of men will assist in promoting any measure that will lessen the sales of the product they produce. Liquor men surely aided in repealing the county option law by contributing to the campaign fund last fall. We cannot see the justness in such an act that will apply for liquor license of the county when they (the applicants) only are to represent in some cases a very small portion of the county. The county option was violated. Governor Marshall says it was violated, therefore it should be repealed. If that be so every law upon the statutes should be repealed. It looks like a combination in restraint of trade to some senators to say that they shall not buy their election after the good old custom.

They are tinkering the foot ball rules again, but when a man has blood in his eye you can't hold him down with little pink ribbons.

One can't blame Miss Arnold for letting the boys see her home from church socials, but it does seem as if she took an awfully roundabout way home.

A Colorado bridegroom had 20 friends arrested for hazing him. He probably thought he was to be put through a sufficient initiation at home.

With loud acclamation in his speeches last fall Governor Marshall promised economy, but the indications now are that the present legislature will not make a record for economy that will conform to the promises of the Governor.

The recall bill which is before the legislature at present seems to be growing in favor. It provides for the removal of city officials for failure to properly perform their duties upon the petition of a certain percent of the voters. Such a law would doubtless recall to the minds of a good many officials in Indiana the fact that laws are made to be enforced, give them a keener vision for law violations and arouse a more wholesome and robust regard for the desires and demands for their constituents both in the matter of enforcing the laws and in the handling of public business. With such a law dissatisfied citizens would have an opportunity of doing something besides sitting down and waiting for the next election.

The Child Labor Law.

(Marion Chronicle.)

There is no defense for the evil we know as "child labor." Neither is there any defense for legislation in the name of opposition to child labor which would prohibit the carrying of papers by boys over fourteen years of age. That is the effect of the Keegan measure, as the Chronicle understands it. Evening papers would not be affected much, if any, but boys would be prohibited from distributing morning papers. If a boy was ever hurt by carrying papers, The Chronicle has never known of a case, and on the contrary there are many successful men in Marion who owe their start in a successful business career to a paper route. There are many boys, too, who would find work in a factory less harmful at this period of life than loitering about any of the several hundred saloons the present legislature has established. Work saves many a boy fourteen and sixteen years of age who would be ruined by idleness. Many of these boys are no more children than men twice that age. No one can go about the streets of a small town or a big one without seeing a good many boys at this period of life who would be better off with a job than without one. Some of them have their trousers turned up at the bottom and are smoking cigarettes. Some of them are hanging around places where there are games of chance in progress and learning to despise labor and contempt of the man who works for a living. Some boys who are planning to be professional men would have more money and more happiness if they were taking manual training, in a glass factory with a trade in sight that yields bigger returns than most professional men earn. Nearly all our hundreds of Grant county glass workers learned their trade as boys in factories and most of them would compare physically pretty well with the members of the legislature. Let there be prohibition of child labor, and strict enforcement of our good law governing it, but no shutting out of the young man from the avenues through which marches the great army of skilled laborers who are more indispensable to the country even than state legislatures.

EDITORIALETTES.

The world begins to take on a brighter hue, even on such a day as this, when you can buy a dozen good, American-laid eggs for a dirty Canadian quarter.

It's about time to begin to think about the annual clean up day, which we did not have last year.

"Men love blondes," announces a bold sociologist. He's right and also brunettes. And, in fact, "Any little girl that's a nice little girl."

Suppose the temperance workers thought next Sunday being Lincoln's birthday, when they announced the big "dry" spell?

No matter what else the tobacco trust may have done the relentless chewer should not hold them responsible for even one package of "Scraps."

On clean-up day which we hope will be held next spring, it might be a good suggestion to tie a red ribbon around your slop bucket, in keeping with the festive spirit.

An exchange has the extreme and unadulterated nerve to declare that "It will not be long until the pussy willows begin to purr."

Someone is alleged to have invented a new kind of mince pie. D'y'usuppose it's raisinsless.

Now it can't be possible that New Castle has one teeny, weeny fault. They have no place to play a game of polo. Curses!

We are unable to express our pity which we feel for the person who was born on February 29.

before the members of the board. They were apprised of the action of the board and were somewhat surprised that action had been taken so quickly. The latter said that they would like to have had a word in setting the time for the election, but, since it had been agreed upon, they thought it would be perfectly satisfactory to them.

LOCAL OPTION TALK.

(Connersville News.)

The Fayette Citizens' League has made all necessary preparations, has been carefully advised by attorneys as to the course they should pursue, and will file their petition for an election under the new city option law with the county auditor at nine o'clock Saturday night.

(Kokomo Tribune.)

Petitions for an election in the city of Kokomo and for one in Center township outside the city were filed with County Auditor Al. B. Easterling Saturday afternoon. The petition for an election in the city was filed by G. D. Jay representing the signers within the corporate limits of Kokomo. The petition for Center township outside the city was filed by T. J. O'Toole, representing the signers in that unit. It is understood a petition for an election in Greentown will be filed before the auditor's office closes Saturday evening.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

A petition asking for a local option election in Hanover township was filed Saturday afternoon in the office of County Auditor George B. Hantington. There were 183 signatures on the petition. There were 459 votes cast in the township in the last general election and more than the required number of signatures were obtained.

It was also expected that a petition would be filed from Brandywine township Saturday afternoon, but the petition had not been filed when the Democrat went to press. Brandywine voted "dry" in the local option election held March 6, 1909, by a majority of 122.

(Greenfield Reporter.)

Elmer E. Fowler and Andrew A. Dent of Sugar Creek township, are taking time by the forelock in case the new city and township option bill becomes a law. Both have advertised that they will make application for licenses to sell liquor at New Palestine at the March meeting of the county commissioners, which will be March 6th. The new bill has not been signed as yet by the Governor, but it has an emergency clause which puts it into effect as soon as signed.

(New Castle Times.)

The seeming certainty that Henry county is soon to "wet" again has created no end of talk throughout the courts and the talk is varied according as the talkers are for or against saloons. Already applications for liquor licenses in New Castle are being talked of and rooms in which to conduct saloons are being sought.

That there will be some disappointed applicants for liquor licenses goes without saying, for the number of applicants is going to be far in excess of the number of saloons required by law and it is also safe to say that some will be turned down because of unfitness.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The question of the legality of the pre-date advertising for saloon licenses under the Proctor option amendment will be fought out in Greensburg before the Decatur county commissioners. The fight will be a bitter one and the "drys" will protest against the issuance of fourteen licenses on the ground that advertising for twenty-one days prior to the enactment of the new law will not suffice.

"The law will be but three days old when the board of county commissioners takes up the petitions in our county for saloon licenses," said Representative Eward before returning to Indianapolis today. "There is no question about the saloon men advertising for twenty-one days, but the question is raised on the validity of the advertising, which ran eighteen days before the law was enacted. The 'drys' are prepared to enjoin the commissioners from issuing the licenses and a bitter fight will be made."

Decatur county became automatically "wet" January 26 under the two-year limit and came under the new law immediately upon its signature by Governor Marshall.

(New Castle Courier.)

At the meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association Monday the question of voting New Castle dry under the provisions of the Proctor ward and township local option bill will be taken up. There is a sentiment among the temperance people of New Castle to give the law a test and to ascertain if the voters are satisfied with conditions as they now exist.

Among the more conservative element of the Anti-Saloon League forces, it is believed that no effort should be made now to put the city dry. It is argued that if the saloons are allowed to return, they themselves will demonstrate that a dry city is more to be desired.

Winter Food for Dairy Cows

Viewed from the standpoint of milk production, the legumes (clover, cow-peas, soy-beans, etc.) must be assigned first rank. After these come grain fodders, corn and sorghum fodders, and fodders from grasses.

Rye and wheat straw are of little value in making milk, oat straw is better, and good bright pea straw is still more valuable. When fodder is scarce, these may be fed to advantage if run through a cutting box and mixed with cut hay.

Among legumes, hay furnished alfalfa, any of the clovers, cow-peas, soy-beans and vetches, are excellent for producing milk when these are cut. Alfalfa should be cut for such feeding when only a few blossoms are formed, clover when in full bloom, and cow-peas, soy-beans and vetches when the first pods are filling.

The succulent foods, such as mangels, sugar beets and carrots are necessary where maximum milk yield are to be attained.

When choosing concentrates the aim should be to select them so that when fed along with the roughage on hand, they will be in approximate balance.

When good clover, hay or alfalfa is being fed to cows in milk, anyone of the following grain supplements will give satisfactory results: Corn meal and wheat bran, equal parts by weight. Corn meal, wheat bran and ground oats in proportions of 2, 1, and 1 parts. Corn meal, wheat bran and cottonseed meal in the proportions of 2, 1, and 1 parts. Whether corn meal or corn and cob meal is fed is not very material.

Barley meal may be fed instead of corn. It is preferable to feed meal admixed with cut fodders. The mastication that follows will then be more thorough and the digestion more complete.

GREAT IS NEW YORK.

New York is truly a great cosmopolitan city with its seventy-two different nationalities. In that city are more Italians than in any city in Italy and more Germans than in Berlin. New York City excels in other respects. It has more paupers, more millionaires, more "booze" fountains, more "rummies"; more sober men; more Magdalenes and circus-spect women; more skinflints, more smart "A-leeks," more jaded men, more women suffering from satiety, more people full of the joy of living, more tears, more laughter, more misfortune, more happiness, more hungry men, more overfed gastronomes; more prodigal sons and push-ahead men; more vanity obsessed belles dame, more sensible, serious minded young women; more black sheep and white lambs, more fatherless children and old maids homes, more hop joints

People of the United States Consume Much Sugar Yearly

The people of the United States consume half their own weight in sugar every year. This may seem a startling statement, but if we take the quantity of sugar produced in the United States and add to this quantity brought from our own islands and the quantity imported from foreign countries, and subtract therefrom the amount exported, we get a grand total of considerably more than seven million pounds consumed in the country; and by dividing the population into this grand total, we get an average of 81½ pounds per capita, speaking in round terms, for 1909. It is not assumed, of course, that each person necessarily consumes sugar equal to one-half his individual weight; but taking the total consumption and comparing it with the total population in the section known as continental United States, the average yearly consumption of sugar is found to be about 81½ pounds per capita.

What is the cost of this enormous quantity of sugar consumed in the United States? This is more difficult to answer. The valuation of that brought from foreign countries and our islands is set down at about 175 million dollars in 1910, and the stated value of that produced in the United States, at approximately 75 million dollars; though this is a comparatively high figure when considered by the price per pound, is due to the fact that the valuation is based upon the refined article, while that of the sugar from abroad is the value of the unrefined article in the country of production. If, however, we accept a general average of 5c per pound as the retail price paid by our people for the 7½ billion pounds of sugar consumed by them in 1910, we should get a total of $366,000,000 or an average of approximately $1,000,000 a day paid for sugar by the people of the United States.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have a complete change of program tonight.

The Star Grand will present a Reliance film tonight entitled "A Brass Button." It tells a story of a clever detective and a dishonest servant girl. It is a plot of absorbing interest, magnificently staged and acted by the Reliance all-star stock company. Earl Robertson will sing "Tell Me."

The Vaudelet, after enjoying a week of excellent crowds, according to the management, will give the same double program tonight that it has been showing for the past few months. "Foolhead, a Victim of His Honesty," and "An Original Palette," are Italia pictures and are said to be up to the standard made by that firm. The first is a series of execrably funny pictures, many of which have already been seen here. "A Brave Western Girl" is a Bison film relating a story of western life.

James K. Hackett will present his new play, "The King's Game" at the Murat theater, Indianapolis, for one night and matinee Wednesday, Feb. 8. "The King's Game" will be presented here with the same lavish splendor that has made Mr. Hackett's productions memorable in all the large cities, the production being brought here intact from St. Louis. Seats now on sale.

Jos. M. Gaites' "Three Twins" voted by press and public "the best, the prettiest and the wittiest musical comedy production seen in a decade" comes to English's opera house, Indianapolis, Indiana, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 7 and 8 with a Wednesday matinee and still boasts the original cast, headed by Clifton Crawford, that kept New York laughing for 14 months. The play opens with a beach scene on the morning of a boat race. From then until the closing curtain the fun is fast and furious. The performers are up to the top notch and the many novel-formers are up to the not ties up-to-the-second. Among the most popular still seems to be the "Yama Yama number with Mayme Gehrue and her frolicsome band of grotesque dancers. Mr. Crawford, the star of the piece is a real comedian. He has a new specialty which is one of the cleverest and most amusing bits offered in a long time. Daisy Leon, Della Niven, Elsie Myrre, Hugh Fay, Joseph Allen Russell Lennon, George Herbert and Ralph Locke are among the members of the cast.

Miss Lula McMahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahan, and Elmer Drake were quietly married by the Rev. John B. Meacham, at his residence in West Fifth street. Mr. Drake is employed at the Rushville Steam Laundry.

Indianapolis Star: Mrs. Cora Campbell Barnett gave a pretty company Wednesday afternoon when she entertained in honor of Mrs. William Amos, formerly Miss Mildred Moor, who was married Saturday evening. Mrs. Barnett was assisted by her visitors, Miss Kennedy of Crawfordville and Miss Ruth Adams of Danville. During the afternoon the guests made an "Advice Book" for the bride.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hutchinson of Capitol avenue, the bride being Miss Mildred Estelle Moore, daughter of Mrs. Louise Moore, and the bridegroom William Major Amos of Rushville, says the Indianapolis Star. The wedding colors were yellow and white and the Hutchinson home was artistically decorated for the wedding. The ceremony room was all in green, with beech branches hung on the walls and in the archways. An altar of palms was set with tall white candles. In the dining room the table was covered with a lace cloth, and in the center was a large silver basket with daffodils. Miss Marie Hallean Dawson, violinist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Annie Dawson. played a program of bridal airs before the ceremony. For the entrance of the bridal party the music was changed to the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and during the congratulations Miss Dawson played the Mendelssohn March. The service was read by the Rev. Allan B. Philpott of the Central Christian church. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Ethel Moore, and George D. Nicell of Rockford, Ill., acted as best man. The bridal gown of white chiffon was elaborated with duchess lace and hand embroidery, and the bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was in apricot satin and she carried an armful of white rosebuds. Mrs. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson were assisted during the evening by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Amos of Rushville; Mrs. A. B. Philpott, Mrs. Samuel Gray, Mrs. J. B. Holton, Mrs. Mary Maxwell Knippenberg, Mrs. Sarah Wallace, Mrs. Cora Campbell Barnett and Mrs. W. R. Davis. In the dining room the assistants were the Misses Grace Philpott, Mary Snodgrass, Helen Holton, Evelyn Moore, Lela Duke, Dawn Kennedy of Crawfordville, and the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Georgia and Miss Clorine Amos of Rushville. Among the guests who came for the wedding were Miss Ethel Mills of Chicago; Miss Dorothy Wilkins of Worthington; Miss Zella Wrennick of Brazil; Miss Ruth Adams of Danville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Roop, Miss Ethel Amos, and Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Horton of Rushville.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos have gone for a wedding journey, and will be at home in Rushville after March 1. The bride's traveling costume was a tailored suit of navy blue broadcloth and a blue hat.

Department Superintendents of Rush County Fair Association Will be Named in Different Way.

KING RE-ELECTED SECRETARY

The directors of the Rush County Fair Association will depart from their usual custom in the future in selecting the departmental superintendents, as was decided at their meeting in the court house Saturday. They will be named by the president and the executive committee, while heretofore they have been chosen by the fair board. Among the other important things accomplished at the meeting was a partial revision of the by-laws and the re-election of William L. King as secretary, to serve another year.

Mr. King has been the efficient secretary of the organization for a number of years and has filled the position with such merit to himself and the board that they will not allow him to refuse the office even though he has said each year for several years that he will not accept the position. Mr. King will go to North Vernon one week from next Thursday to attend the meeting of this fair circuit. In case he is unable to attend, Roy Carr was elected as alternate to attend. The directors decided to hold the fair August 22 to 25 inclusive this year, so that it would not conflict with any nearby fairs. The fair board will meet in session in the court house February 18, one week from next Saturday, when they will elect an executive committee.

CHAPTER XV.

VALENTINE broke the silence. "But to prove so important a matter so suddenly—on a second's notice—why, no man on earth can—Wait. If I happen to have that scrap book here; I brought it down one day, and if"—he opened a drawer—"here it is. Of course there may be nothing here on the exact date you mention." The last doubtfully.

"What's this?" "A scrap book. I suppose all people are the same about this little vanity," whimsically. "You doubtless cut out the first clippings about yourself you ever saw in print. There—no, that's 1907." Doyle came to him. Valentine shuffled the pages back. "Well, that's pretty close—that's in March, 1906. I made a speech that night. What was that date again?"

"Well, by"—began Doyle, completely nonplused. "That was a pretty good speech," commented Valentine, pointing to another clipping—"second one I ever made. The first, what was that date—February what?"

"Ninth," Doyle rose impatiently. "This is too good," put in Valentine. "Here, look here." He indicated the picture on the wall. "Who is that as big as life there? It's been staring us both in the face ever since you've been here."

Doyle went to the photograph. "That was on Feb. 9, 1906—why, yes, the photographer even dated it."

"Is this you?" Doyle pointed to one of the figures in the group.

"Well, look at it. If this Valentine was in prison that must be me. You said yourself that Sing Sing doesn't allow boarders to go visiting."

Doyle stepped back in front of Valentine's desk.

"You can alibi yourself into hell, Valentine, but you can't get away from that scar on your left wrist."

Doyle had reserved this telling shot for a critical moment.

"I never had a scar on my left wrist," the other returned jubilantly. "Let's see," the detective snapped unbelievably.

"But that proves nothing," Valentine drew back as he spoke. He appeared unwilling to permit Doyle to make an examination of his wrist.

"Let me see, I tell you. It's got to be shown sooner or later. Delay won't get you anything," Doyle was forcing the fighting now. He was certain that he had Valentine cornered.

The assistant cashier thrust his hands behind his back.

"Don't you realize," he said triumphantly, "that that is a very old fashioned method of identification? Don't you know that since the introduction of a horsehair in sewing wounds there is never a scar?" He smiled irritatingly at Doyle.

As a reply the detective bent swiftly across the desk, seized Valentine's

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

FOR AGED PEOPLE

Old Folks Should be Careful in Their

Selection of Regulative Medicine.

We have a safe, dependable and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders. We are so certain that it will relieve these complaints and give absolute satisfaction in every particular that we offer it with our personal guarantee that it shall cost the user nothing if it fails to substantiate our claims. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies.

Rexall Orderlies have a soothing, healing, strengthening, tonic and regulative action upon the bowels. They remove all irritation, dryness, soreness and weakness. They restore the bowels and associate organs to more vigorous and healthy activity. They are eaten like candy, may be taken at any time without inconvenience, do not cause any griping, nausea, diarrhoea, excessive looseness, flatulence or other disagreeable effect. Price 25c. and 10c. Sold at our store—The Rexall Store, Thos. W. Lytle.

repeatedly. The first year he worked we thought the jobs were done from the inside—employees or officers of the bank. Then we got him by a confession of his pal, and a fool governor pardoned him." Doyle growled disgustedly.

"Well, if he was pardoned"—The detective brushed the suggestion aside.

"I want him for another job, one that I can convict him on now and couldn't before the first conviction." "You will doubtless get him, Mr. Doyle," confidently.

"Doubtless. It's a life work to land him. He's the most dangerous man loose."

"It doesn't seem possible that a man could have so delicate a sense of touch," said Valentine innocently, continuing to "play" Doyle as an angler plays a brook trout.

"YOU MUST WANT HIM BADLY."

"He has," with an angry snort. "It's been the ambition of my life to see him work—to catch him red handed."

"Well, for the sake of the community at large I hope you do. By the way, Mr. Doyle, as you have never seen this—er—Mr. Valentine work, how do you know that he uses nothing but his hands in opening safes?"

"Oh, we have a general idea about his system. He keeps his hands tender, soft, sensitive, and through a faculty seeming almost miraculous he is able to detect the movement of the tumblers that lock the safe as he turns the dials of the combination. This much we learned from one Red Flanagan, alias Tim Cronin, alias the 'White Rat,' the pal that Valentine took up with after he killed another pal named Cotton. Flanagan's right name is Jim. He did a bit at Joliet, and I think I'll be able to get him to testify against Valentine when I get him sewed up in Boston. What? Oh, yes; Red was always known as the 'White Rat' until he took to dyeing his hair vermillion."

Doyle looked at his watch. He nodded a farewell to Valentine and wheeled toward the door. He stopped momentarily and asked permission to "take another flash at that picture on the wall." Valentine gave his assent and watched the detective curiously. Doyle stepped in front of the photograph, took out his magnifying glass, a powerful reading glass, and again made a minute examination of the scene in the banquet hall, with "Mr. Lee Randall" sitting at the right of the toastmaster.

He turned, shot a searching look at Valentine and then drew close to the latter's desk. "By the way," he said, "on my way out I'll stop and explain to the"—"Mr. Lane, the president," reminded Valentine.

"Yes. I want to apologize for making accusations against you. Good day, Mr. Randall."

"Good day, Mr. Doyle." Doyle stepped out into the hallway. As he drew the door toward him to close it he leaned forward and peered through the crack. He saw Valentine standing at his desk, and he also saw the young man's breast heave as though he was sighing in relief as at the ending of a trying ordeal.

"I WANT TO APOLOGIZE," SAID DOYLE.

Just as he was about to close the door and depart the door leading from the vault room into the assistant cashier's office burst violently open. Doyle heard the crash, and he also heard what followed it—a frenzied voice, an agonized voice, crying "Jimmy, Jimmy!"

"Jimmy!" Then that's his name, after all; it's Valentine! gasped the detective, pushing the door open to better learn what was transpiring. The voice was the voice of Red Flanagan, who, followed by little Bobby Lane, had rushed frantically into the room.

"Jimmy," screamed Red, his eyes bulging outward in horror. "Bobby's locked Kitty in the new vault! We can't get her out!"

Valentine turned on Red like a panther.

"Where is the combination? Quick, man, quick!"

"The builders haven't sent it yet. Nobody knows it," choked Red. Bobby threw himself into Valentine's arms, sobbing convulsively.

"I didn't mean to do it," he cried hysterically. "I didn't mean to—I didn't know Kitty hid in the vault, and I thought—I didn't know. I pretended not to and shut the door to scare her. Then just in fun I turned the knob!"

"Good God, that baby!" groaned Valentine, wringing his hands and starting toward the vault room.

"You can do it," urged Red. "I'll clear the bank—just you and me. For God's sake, open that vault or that baby will die like a rat!" Red fell on his knees before Valentine and pleaded heartbrokenly for his old time safe breaking accomplice to use once again the skill that had made his name a synonym for success in the underworld.

Valentine hesitated, as well he might, considering the hazardous nature of his position. If any one but Red should see him open the safe—see him at work—all hope of further concealing the nature of his occupation in the past would be destroyed. And Doyle, who wanted to "see Jimmy Valentine work," was even now in the bank building—might return to Valentine's office at any moment, reasoned the assistant cashier.

"Kitty mustn't die—she mustn't—she mustn't!" sobbed Bobby.

Valentine's face set determinedly. He tore off his coat and, rolling up his sleeves, dashed out into the vault room.

"I know! I'll do it! I'll do it!" he cried. Detective George Doyle smiled sardonically as he softly withdrew from behind the partly opened door which had sheltered him from the view of the frantic actors in the tragedy that had been enacted in the assistant cashier's office. He walked swiftly down the hall.

"Jimmy Valentine, Jimmy Valentine," he muttered vengefully, "you've had your laugh! Now I'll have mine. I've got you now. I'm going to get you red handed!"

Popular Election of Senators in the Balance.

IT HINGES ON VOTES OF A FEW

Chance of Securing Necessary Two-Thirds Vote in the Senate Turns on the Votes of Four or Five Republican Senators Whose Attitude Is in Doubt—Lorimer Case Expected to Come to a Vote This Week.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Republican leaders are hopeful that before the end of another legislative week in the senate that the resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution for popular election of senators and the Lorimer case will both have been disposed of. If Senator Lorimer does not end the matter by resigning it is likely the case will be brought to a vote.

The resolution for popular election of senators is now the unfinished business. Senators Lodge and Root are to speak at length on the matter. Senator Heyburn will oppose it and may attempt to prevent a vote by talking against time, but the other debates on the resolution will be brief, it is believed. The friends of the resolution are not very hopeful of securing the necessary two-thirds vote of the senate. They admit that there is a prospect that Senator Sutherland's amendment retaining federal control over the popular election at which senators are to be chosen will be added to the resolution. In that contingency several southern Democratic senators would refuse to support the measure, but even omitting the contingency of the adoption of the Sutherland amendment, the chance of securing two-thirds is slim. The matter will turn upon the votes of four or five Republican senators whose attitude is in doubt but who are supposed to be opposed to the popular election of senators.

FILLED VACANCIES

County Officials Were Ousted Because Their Elections Were Tainted.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Governor Willson has appointed John W. Ford, judge to Pike county, to fill the vacancy created by the decision of the court of appeals, in which the Republican county officials of Pike county were ousted because of the use of money at the election in 1909. Ford was elected judge of Pike county in the 1909 election, and his appointment makes it certain that all of the old county officials will be reappointed, as he has it in his power to appoint them. The record in the case showed that $15,000 had been spent in this election, and the court of appeals was severe in comments on the election.

SAVED BY HAT

Otherwise Kentucky Auditor Might Have Had a Fractured Skull.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—By wearing a derby hat State Auditor Frank P. James escaped serious injury while riding from Lawrenceburg to Harrodsburg on the Southern railway.

James was standing at the water cooler when the train stopped so suddenly that he was thrown with great force against the side of the coach.

The rim of the hat protected his face to a degree, but notwithstanding his face was bruised badly, and if he had not been wearing a stiff hat his skull would have been fractured.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM

How Swindlers Worked the Housewives of Grammer.

Columbus, Ind., Feb. 6.—When Wiley Beck, owner of a grain elevator at Grammer, sold 10 cents' worth of cement to two strangers a few days ago he felt that he had made a fair profit on the deal, but when he learned later that his wife had paid 25 cents for a very small quantity of it under the name of "World-Famed and Incomparable Metal Polish," he realized that he had been "stung." The strangers peddled the cement throughout the town as metal polish, swindling almost every woman in the place.

Waived Preliminary Hearing.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 6.—Charles Messel, who shot and killed his sister Fern because she implicated him along with her father in an alleged unnatural crime, pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary hearing in the city court.

Caught at the Crossing.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 6.—Tobert Howell, a wealthy Tippecanoe county farmer, while driving to his home, three miles east of Otterbein, was struck by a passenger train on the Big Four railroad and instantly killed.

Paul Singer's Funeral.

Berlin, Feb. 6.—About 150,000 persons followed the body of Paul Singer, the noted Socialist, to the grave. The lookers-on numbered probably not fewer than 500,000.

Rubbing the back won't cure backache.

A liniment may relieve, but can't cure.

Backache comes from the inside—from the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills get inside—They cure sick kidneys.

Here is Rushville proof that this is so:

Samuel A. Brown, 527 West First street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know from personal experience that they live up to the claims made for them. About three years ago I was suddenly taken with an attack of backache and it steadily grew worse. I could hardly raise my foot from the ground and if I stooped it really seemed as if my back was going to break. When someone was viced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and I was certainly surprised by their promptness in relieving me. In three days I was free from backache and felt better in every way. Since then I have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and have seldom been without a supply in the house. Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the highest praise."

SIGHT SEERS IN LINE OF BATTLE

Auto Parties Make the Run From El Paso.

NOT MUCH OF A SPECTACLE

Sniping at Each Other From Behind Hills, the Federal Force Protecting Juarez and the Insurrectos Keep Up an All-Day Fire With the Net Result of Two Killed on Each Side and Seven Wounded.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 6.—Colonel Ro-bago's command marched into Juarez last night at 10 o'clock, after facing the rebels all day outside the city. He brought 270 fighting men with him and eleven wounded, including one woman. He left two dead on the field and the hospital train brought in a wounded woman.

Since 9 o'clock Saturday night there had been fighting in progress, but none of it was bloody or spirited.

The federal forces were under command of Colonel Robago. The insurrectos number 800, with 300 or more coming up from the south. The exact number of federals is not known.

For two hours Sunday afternoon your correspondent was in the rebel lines, about twelve miles out of Juarez. During that time not over 200 shots were fired. Pacual Orozco, commander of the insurrectos, was not seen himself. Captain F. J. Casavantes was in command of the eastern detachment of insurrectos. The federals had a Gatling gun with them.
They fired four times on the red cross flag carried by the doctors in the insurrecto ranks. As a result the insurrecto wounded, unable to crawl back for attention, were left on the field until darkness came. At 4:30 the rebels had lost two killed and three wounded in the all-day fight.

Battle Opened at Daylight.

The battle did not open until daylight, although the federals, coming to reinforce Juarez from Casas Grandes, ran into a turn-up track of the Mexico Northwestern at 9 o'clock Saturday night. The insurrectos had been expecting reinforcements from the south, and did not attack the train except to exchange a few shots. They waited until morning to ascertain if it was a train of rebels or federals. Finding it was federals, the insurrectos attacked, but found that the federals during the night had dug intrenchments around the train and had set up a Gatling gun. Then followed the all-day fight from behind hills. The federals are fighting under the belief that they are to be massacred if taken prisoners, as their officers tell them. They have seventeen cars, three of them passenger coaches, and the others box cars.
The precautions in Juarez have not been relaxed. The soldiers are on the tops of the buildings and they cut holes in the walls of the old cathedral so that they can shoot from inside if the rebels drive them from the roofs, where they are now intrenched behind sandbags.

Flags of Every Color.

Juarez looks like a congress of nations. Flags of every color are floating from all the housetops and doors, showing they belong to foreign residents. The Mexican national emblem floats from every official building, proudly and defiantly. Usually it does not fly except on the custom house.

More than a hundred persons went from El Paso in autos Sunday to the near vicinity of the fighting. Auto drivers made the round trip in four hours, with an hour at the battlefield, and harvested money at $25 to $50 a load.

The rebels are armed with all manner of guns, but the majority carry Mausers and many of them carry bayonets and wear Mexican army cartridge belts, showing that they are either deserters from the federals or that they have captured these things from the federal soldiers.

Not So Bad as First Reported.

Manila, Feb. 6.—Many of those who fled to escape the eruption of Mount Taal are now returning to their villages. It is reported that some of them found their villages undamaged. These villages were included in the reports of those who suffered from the eruption, and it is thought that the fact that they did not suffer will reduce the estimates of the number killed.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS IN SIGHT

President Will Insist On Ratification of Canadian Post.

Washington, Feb. 6.—By the latter part of the week the reciprocity agreement will have passed the house of representatives and be transmitted to the senate for consideration. The indications are that the pact will fail of passing in the senate, though the administration is counting on public sentiment to force favorable action by that body before adjournment.

Judging from the volume of mail received here since Mr. Taft forwarded his special message to congress on the subject, the Canadian agreement meets with popular approval. Furthermore, the great majority of the members of the house of representatives is favorable to it. In addition it is known that a majority of the senators would vote for it if given opportunity to do so. The opposition in the senate, however, is determined that the agreement shall not come to a vote at this session. The opposition to the agreement in the senate is largely sectional, coming in the main from senators representing the agricultural states of the northwest, the intermountain states, Pacific coast states, the New England states, and from Democrats who are always protectionists when tariff measures are up for consideration.

There have been reports from time to time during the past week that unless the Canadian agreement is ratified before adjournment, Mr. Taft will call a special session of congress. Administration leaders say that the president has not abandoned hope that the pact will be enacted into law before March 4, and is giving no thought to the idea of a special session at present. What he will decide to do in the event of the failure of the agreement at this session is a question to be determined later.

Will File Numerous Suits.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Auditor
James reports that fully 1,200 corporations have failed to report to pay the annual license tax of 50 cents on each $1,000 of capital stock. The result will be that numerous suits will be filed by auditor's agents, who will add a penalty of 10 per cent, prescribed by statute. The report should have been filed Feb. 1.

Death of General Cronje.
Klerksdorp, Transvaal, Feb. 6.— General Piet A. Cronje, the noted Boer general, is dead. General Cronje commanded the western army of the South African republics in the Boer war.

DOINGS IN THE LEGISLATURE

Session Half Over and Much Has Been Accomplished.

A PERFECT FLOOD OF BILLS

All Told There Have Been 795 Distinct Measures Introduced During First Half of the Session, Ninety-Seven of Which Have Been Passed in One House or the Other, and Seven of Which the Governor Has Signed.

Indianapolis, Feb. 6.—The first half of the current session of the general assembly has closed with a total of 797 bills on the calendar of both houses, and with ninety-seven passed by one branch or the other. Of these, the governor has signed seven—the Proctor option act, the act appropriating $120,000 for the expenses of the session, the one appropriating $103,000 for the redemption of the state fair ground livestock pavilion bonds, the Powers' "skunk bill," the Harlan
"third degree" measure, the Hauck measure regulating the organization of banks, and the Stotsenburg bill providing for filling town office vacancies by elections by boards of town trustees.

Platform Measures.

Virtually all of the Democratic platform measures have been introduced, and some of them have passed.
Among them was the Proctor option act, which is now a law. Another is the weekly wage bill, which has passed the house. The employers' liability bills and the workmen's compensation bills have been introduced in both the house and the senate, and will come up for action next week. Bills attacking the public accounting law and bills designed to preserve and strengthen it have been introduced, and will be disposed of, in all likelihood, within ten days. A registration bill, concerning elections, has been started in the house, and a campaign publicity bill in the house, the latter having passed that side. A number of bills have been introduced to better the free gravel road condition of the state, among them a bill to establish a state highway commission.

The child labor bills are under way, and that pertaining to general child labor will be taken up in the house this afternoon for amendment. Bills to provide that the governor shall appoint the state inspector of mines and the custodian of the statehouse have been introduced. Resolutions to amend the federal constitution so as to provide for an income tax have been adopted by both houses.

Liquor Regulation Status.

The senate has under way a liquor regulation measure, which has been advanced to engrossment. This bill increases the license fee both inside and outside cities, and restricts the number of saloons according to population.

The house has gone on record as being opposed to the increase of salaries and the allowance of increased or additional fees and the backers of some forty or more bills to provide more money for public officials seem doomed to disappointment. The fees and salaries committee has promised a wholesale slaughter of such measures in the next week.

Two appropriation bills to take care of the state departments and institutions have been introduced, one carrying the regular appropriation and the other the specific appropriation. This is the first time in the memory of the oldest legislators that these bills have been introduced in the first half of a session. Preparations have been made to have the regular appropriation bill pass the house this week. It has been understood among the department heads and institution officials that the general assembly will stand by the bills as recommended by the senate committee on finance and the house committee on ways and means.

Armory Bill Killed.

One administration measure, the national guard armory bill, has been killed in the house, where it originated. Important bills which have passed the house are the following: The bill combining the farmers' institutes with the agricultural experiment station at Purdue university; various measures from the state board of health, including the bill to strengthen the act of 1907; the bill to reduce blindness in infants, and that to provide for the treatment of indigent persons afflicted with rabies, and the bill regulating the sale of dangerous drugs; the bill to admit grandchildren of civil war veterans and children of regular army veterans to the state soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home, backed by the Indiana G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps.

The bill introduced first in the senate providing for the acceptance of the Dr. Robert W. Long gift for hospital purposes, as amended in the house by adding a maintenance fund, has passed both houses. Among the measures which have passed the senate are the "third-degree" bill, directed against extorting confessions by means of threats or punishment; the bill authorizing a tax levy for the establishment and maintenance of playgrounds, public comfort stations and public baths in Indianapolis.

PLAN FOR SIXTH DISTRICT EVENT

Promoters Arrange For Corn School and Short Course to be Held at Richmond This Week.

LOCAL FARMERS WILL ATTEND

Subject of Economical Cattle Feeding Will be One of the Most Important Ones Discussed.

Preparations for the Sixth district corn school and farmers' institute, which will be held in Richmond this week, February 6 to 11, have practically been completed. The committees in charge say that success is already assured. Purdue university will ship a car load of cattle for use by the classes in scoring. The corn show which will probably be the largest this part of the state has ever known, is now being arranged and is under the direction of Isaac Dougan. The fourth day of the short course will find the class in live stock judging hard at work in the study of beef cattle. This class of live stock is one that turns the large corn crop of the State into good marketable beef and a great many farmers in the state feed out a car load or several car loads of steers each winter. Indiana stands high, also, in the rank of beef cattle breeding steers, some of the finest herds in America being found in her borders. The beef cattle show is one of the biggest of any at the state fair and also at the county fairs of the state. Interest in beef cattle is high, both because the feeders and breeders of them are numerous in the state and are among the most prosperous of all farmers.

The work in judging will consist of scoring three prime steers that have been used for class work at Purdue agricultural college this winter, and which are fine specimens of finished steers. The farmer students at the Huntington course will have an opportunity to give these steers a critical examination, and the score card for market steers will be used in this work. The finish of the steers, the evenness of covering, the quality and the probable dressing percentage will be discussed and criticised. The work on breeding classes will take a considerable portion of the time allotted to the study of beef cattle and several first class breeding animals have been secured by the local committee to use in the class work. It is one thing to say that an animal is good or bad but an entirely different proposition to make a systematic examination of the animal under discussion and point out then just where is it bad or good and then give a numerical value to the point. Instruction in this detailed examination of animals will be main feature of all the instructional work in live stock judging.

The subject of economical cattle feeding is always of interest to the men in the business and will receive a place on the program. The different points to be considered from the business standpoint will be discussed, the influence of age on different rations, as corn and clover; corn, cotton seed meal and clover; corn, cotton seed meal and silage; etc., will form the theme of the lecture on cattle feeding.

OFFERED A POSITION.

Brookville American: E. J. Hancock has an offer to take a position with the State forestry department. Mr. Hancock has been obliged to give up newspaper work on account of his eyes. The new work is of such a character that it would not cause serious strain upon his eyes.

SEVEN LICENSES.

Columbus Republican: The county commissioners will meet Monday for the February session. Some applications for liquor licenses have been pending but they can not be considered Monday because this county is still legally "dry."

Wm. Dagler is still buying hogs and cattle for eastern markets. 231-mo3
